Badges and Score Reports

What is CWRA+ Badging?
High School seniors and juniors who have scored Proficient, Accomplished, or Advanced on CWRA+ will earn a badge. CWRA+ badges will allow college and career-ready students to stand out among their peers and appeal to companies, organizations, and institutions seeking candidates with these higher-order skills. A CWRA+ badge can be displayed via ProExam’s online vault, an electronic résumé, or a LinkedIn profile. Badges provide verified, specific information from trusted sources about the skills, competencies, and knowledge each individual possesses. A badge supplements a résumé because it showcases a broad range of a student’s skills, particularly the skills that are transferable outside of the classroom and valid in the workplace.

Badge Types
There are three different badges a student may achieve based on their mastery level.

- Proficient badge:
  - Students at the Proficient mastery level are able to make inferences from the documents and write sentences with minor errors.

- Accomplished badge:
  - Students at the Accomplished mastery level have the ability to make inferences and provide sufficient evidence to support their claim.

- Advanced badge:
  - Students at the Advanced mastery level discern the merit of information and evaluate the strength of arguments, including the ability to identify bias.

Students are able to view their scores reports shortly after the institution receives their reports.
